The Peace Jubilee [illegible]

[illegible] commenced [illegible] The programme [illegible] At [illegible] welcomed [illegible] Summer. The Boston Band under the lead of Dan Godfrey made an appearance, and was received with great cheering by the whole audience. The organ played an English anthem. When the immense applause was subdued Madam Rudersdorff was led to the rostrum by Gilmore and the British national anthem was then performed. The final chorus was accompanied by the Grenadier and all others bands at full power while the bells of the city and cannon were brought into requisition. The enthusiasm was immense and Gilmore resigned the baton to Godfrey who conducted the performance in response to an encore. Godfrey retained the baton and conducted the Grenadier band through the Star Spangled Banner with full cannon accompaniment which caused a great outburst of applause and cheering for the red and [illegible]. The anvil chorus was the next performed with the usual accompaniment and the concert closed by the singing of a missionary hymn.

Big Tree confined in the State prison. It is reported that all the Indians on Fort Sill reservation are on the war path. Several fights have already occurred. Gen Augur has telegraphed for two more cavalry regiments. Well informed Texans are confident that a big Indian war is inevitable. Many settlers are leaving their homes. It is believed that the Kiowas are leaders in the raid, assisted by Apaches and [illegible].

WASHINGTON CITY

Executive Business

WASHINGTON, June 18—President Grant returned this morning and held a long consultation with Fish respecting the Alabama claims. Much business awaits the President's attention.

A meeting commenced this noon. Present Secretaries Fish, Delano and Postmaster Gen Creswell. Judge Richardson represented the Treasury Department, and Bristow Attorney General. The War and Navy Departments were not represented. The Cabinet meeting was of short duration. Secretary Fish read several dispatches, the latest received by him from Geneva, giving the present condition of affairs before the Tribunal. They contained no information indicating the final results.

CALIFORNIA

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO June 18—About thirty country delegates to the Democratic State Convention are opposed to Greeley and Brown. They met in caucus last night and passed a resolution that it would be unwise to instruct the delegates to Baltimore as to who they should support. There appears no doubt that at least four fifths of the Convention will vote promptly for the endorsement of the Cincinnati Convention nominees.

Four hundred and fifty deeply corroded old Spanish dollars, the first result of the operations of the Pacific Coast Wrecking Co on the wreck of the Spanish frigate Liocadia on the coast of Ecuador, were received by the Panama steamer yesterday.

Jno E Love a stock broker filed a petition in insolvency. Liabilities $[illegible]; nominal assets $180 000. Many [illegible] in various parts of the State from [illegible] and elsewhere are creditors.

Weather unusually warm, clear and fine.

The English colonial mail [illegible] last night the steamer Nebraska sails for [illegible] to-morrow with passengers for New Zealand and Australia.

The Democratic State Convention meets at 12 to-day at Platt's Hall. There appears to be a variety of opinions among scientific sharps as to whether the aerial visitor of last night was a comet or more properly a [illegible] meteor. Whatever it was it attracted general attention.

The building which is to contain the world's exhibition in Vienna in 1873 is to consist of one long gallery eighty feet wide, thirty two thousand nine hundred and twenty five feet in length, with twenty cross galleries each fifty feet long. This peculiar structure is to be surmounted by an iron dome having a span of three hundred and thirty feet, or double that of St Peter's at Rome. Five times as much space will be available as in the building at Paris.

Congressmen at large will be more numerous hereafter. Under the next election Missouri will send 4, Pennsylvania 2, Indiana 1, Arkansas 1, Alabama 1, and New York probably 1.

Miscellaneous

CHICAGO June 19—The Western Associated Press meet in this city to-day. About fifty members of the Western and Southern Press are in the city.

WASHINGTON CITY

The Geneva Conference

WASHINGTON June 19—Our Government has not objected and does not propose to object to the postponement of the arbitration at Geneva as desired by Great Britain. It thinks it will lose nothing by giving the Queen a pretext for withdrawing from the arbitration. It is considered to be within the power of the Tribunal to grant a postponement for a reasonable time, or until the Senate again meets in regular course to act on such modifications of the amended additional article to the Treaty as may be proposed by Britain. An extra session will be called but in the meantime nothing will be done on our part to occasion the failure of the Treaty. No fears are now entertained in that direction. There is no information to warrant the conclusion that efforts to adjust the differences will be ineffectual.

NOVA SCOTIA

HALIFAX June 19—A terrible thunder storm occurred here yesterday afternoon. Chambers Church was struck by lightning and badly damaged and an adjoining mansion house was demolished.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE

London Dispatches

NEW YORK June 19—A London special says: The condition of Spain is alarming. There has been a partial rising of the Republicans in Andalusia since the Conservatives proposed a Dictatorship. Serrano with absolute powers for crushing the enemy and suspending the Constitution. The Conservatives are enraged at the King's rejection of their proposals and declare that they have made the last attempt toward forming a conservative ministry under Amadeus. It is said Serrano has gone to England in disguise and Sagasta has gone to France.

The Radicals are arming themselves and their friends.

NEVADA

Rich Diggings

SAN FRANCISCO June 19—A private dispatch from Schellburn says that immense deposits of rich ore have been struck in the Wide West and Ajax mines at South Camp on Ruby Hill.

VIRGINIA CITY June 19—A man named Ryan shot his wife and then himself through the head, being instantly killed. Cause supposed to be jealousy, she having applied for a divorce.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO June 19—The Democratic State Convention was called to order at 12 M.

James T Farley declining the nomination for temporary chairman James Coffroth was elected by acclamation. He will undoubtedly be elected permanent Chairman.

The Committees on Permanent Organization, Order of Business and Credentials were then proposed.

The Committee on Credentials consists of one from each county. Tyler Curtiss, Esq, represents San Francisco, and C P Jones Sacramento. Everything indicates an overwhelming majority in favor of the endorsement of the Cincinnati movement though there will be some severe bucking on the part of the old war horses, and in the end the movement may be defeated.

The Convention has adjourned to 1½ P M.

This is an intensely hot day, much the warmest of the season.

SAN FRANCISCO June 19—The steamer Tokanari lost recently on the coast of Japan was the old pioneer steamer Uncle Sam, well known to all old Californians.

There is a beggarly attendance at the Woman's Suffrage Convention to-day, and no interest is manifested by the public.

Henry Michelson died in the hospital this morning from the effects of a fall from a balcony while intoxicated.

The Democratic Convention effected a permanent organization by electing James W Coffroth as Chairman. Coffroth exhorted the Democrats to adhere to their old principles and have nothing to do with any hybrid organization. He would express no preference of his own, but would say that if his vote could elect a President of the United States he would cast it for Hendricks, of Indiana. His remarks were received with great applause. Mrs Emily Pitt Stevens presented an address on the woman's rights question in manuscript, was loudly cheered and withdrew.

The Convention appointed a committee on resolutions and adjourned until 8 P M.

There is an intensely bitter jealousy of the city man fostered by the country members.

It now looks as if the delegates would be instructed on the question of the Presidency.

SAN FRANCISCO June 19—Stock sales in the evening board were only 2 63[illegible] shares making a total for the day of 10 [illegible]. Prices firm but the market is painfully quiet.

Arrived—Bark Alex McNeil.

A Chinaman having sued out a writ of habeas corpus for a Chinese girl fifteen years of age who ran away from him some weeks since, sought protection of the police, and was sent to the Methodist Home Mission. Judge Stanly heard the case to-day. The claimant pretended that the girl who is peculiarly bright and intelligent was given to him by parties who brought her here as a servant, but the girl said that she was purchased by him for two hundred dollars and was so abused that she fled for protection. Judge Stanly remanded her to the care of the Mission and told the claimant to go about his business.

This has been the hottest day of the season thus far. This evening a slight breeze has sprung up but it is still warm.

The United States steamer Lackawanna is anchored in front of the city preparatory to sailing for China to relieve the Benicia of the Asiatic squadron.

A man named Sinclair an upholsterer while walking with a companion on Post street this evening fell badly fracturing his left leg below the knee.

The bark [illegible], only three years old, sold at auction to-day for thirty thousand dollars.

SAN FRANCISCO June 19—The races advertised for the Oakland and Agricultural Parks to day were both drawn.

The Democratic Convention this evening adopted a series of resolutions very skilfully drawn, the substance of which is as follows: Recommending the union of all good citizens in opposition to Grant's re-election; condemning the extravagance and corruption of his Administration; endorsing the principles of the Cincinnati platform; recognizing the patriotic motives of the parties composing the Convention and recommending the Delegates to the Baltimore Convention to take such action as will insure the co-operation of all patriotic citizens in the effort to purify the Government; pledging the vote of the Democrats of California for the nominees of the Baltimore Convention, leaving the delegates uninstructed as to what candidates they should vote for, they having full confidence that they will act for the best interests of the party and the country. The resolutions were voted upon seriatim and the committee [illegible] the Cincinnati platform [illegible] was the only one on which there was any contest. The anti-Greeley men [illegible] strongly. It was adopted by at least ten to one and followed by prolonged applause. The delegates will be appointed to-morrow. The action of the Convention on the resolutions leaves no doubt that the delegates will be in favor of Greeley and Brown.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Small-Pox at Victoria

The little girl Quickley is very low. Much alarm is felt at the presence of the small-pox here, and a dispute has arisen as to whether the city, the Provincial or the Dominion government must foot the quarantine bill.

VICTORIA June 19—The steamship Prince Alfred is now discharging freight into lighters. Merchants refuse to pay lighterage of one dollar per ton.

Doubly Disastrous—Steamship Idaho on the Rocks—The California a Total Loss

VICTORIA June 19—The Idaho from Portland left Esquimalt at 10 P M last evening for Nanaimo for coal and ran on the chain of rocks between Discovery and Trial islands. The Prince Alfred has gone to her assistance. It is feared she will break her back at low water as she will be high and dry.

The steamer California from San Francisco and Portland bound for Sitka with passengers and troops after coaling at Nanaimo, ran on a rock twenty eight miles above that port and is a total wreck. Purser Goodhue arrived in town by a canoe to charter a steamer to bring in the passengers. Probably the Douglas and Maude will go to her assistance from Nanaimo.

Sketch of James Gordon Bennett

Mr Bennett's was a life which for its curious vicissitudes, remarkable incidents and astounding successes is scarcely to be paralleled. If ever man was self made it was he. His only heritage from his parents was himself. Without home, without friends, without money, his indomitable will and exceptional ability brought him to the highest pinnacle of what is called success. Probably much of this internal force was due to his race inheritance, for he was a Scotchman of French Catholic descent, and grafted upon that original stock of nervous vigor were the complimentary qualities of persistent thrift. Parton speaks of him as of French instincts and Scotch habits. What makes our country great was the secret of Bennett's success—the combination in his temperament of the chosen qualities of races.

He was born at New Mills Banffshire, Scotland 1795; thus his boyhood was passed during the stirring and developing times of the Napoleonic wars, and his manhood happened during that period of American history when the field was open to individualism. It was far different from to-day, the day of corporations. Astor, Stewart and Bennett are types of that era. Their unaided efforts laid the foundation of those three colossal monuments to the power of individual exertion, the Astor estate, the Stewart palaces of industry, the New York Herald. To-day these immense organizations are terrible facts in the way of the new-comer, who must win his way to fortune by secondary means. Thus all the conditions of his time were favorable to the development and success of Bennett; the stars were in fortunate conjunction, the old astrologers would have said.

Bennett grew up a bright, soft-hearted, romantic lad, of course writing poetry. He learned French from his parents, and at the Aberdeen Catholic Seminary, where he went to be educated as a priest—we shape not our own ends always at the start—he learned Latin. Three years after he gave up his designs upon the priesthood, and dropped into poetry again. After two years of comparative inactivity he was quickened by the reading of a Scotch edition of "Franklin's Autobiography"—possibly the most important fact in his life, for he immediately, it is said, adopted the American philosopher as his ideal, and began to turn his thoughts toward this country. This was in the year 1817; two years after, at the age of twenty-two, he started for this country, arriving at Halifax in May with $25 in his pocket. A few weeks were spent in teaching book-keeping, then he came to Boston, entering a bookstore, then acting as a proof reader. Two years of saving brought him to New York with a slightly increased capital. Here he fell in with the proprietor of the Charleston (S C) Courier and went South with him to translate from the French and Spanish papers which were brought to the Courier by a fast sailing schooner that lay outside the harbor and intercepted vessels. Here was perhaps the origin of the Herald steam yachts, which have made that paper indispensable to down town.

In 1824 Mr Bennett came back to New York and advertised a commercial school "in which all the English branches and sciences were to be taught, and also the French and Spanish languages if required." Application was to be made to J G B, 148 Fulton Street. But no one desired his services and he tried a course of lectures on political economy at the Old Dutch Church—with equal success. Happily for these failures made him a journalist permanently. He went on the National Advocate and did a little of everything. He was a Democrat and free trader, a strong adherent of Jackson, and threw up his place in preference to writing falsely when the Advocate became a turn coat. This happened when he was thirty years old and still he was unsettled and with no evident future. Some political friends placed him as Washington correspondent of the New York Enquirer, then the leading paper of the metropolis. Here he made his first hit, writing very personal gossipy letters, something in the fashion of Walpole's, which he had just been reading. He wrote also love stories and poems—and earned all told twelve dollars a week. Returning to New York he urged upon General Webb a consolidation with the Courier and his plan was carried out. The result was most satisfactory; the circulation was immense, 3 [illegible]00 daily, and its advertising patronage $[illegible] a day. He remained here writing all sorts of brilliant articles and helping very much to make the paper the great success it was till 1832. But the Courier and Enquirer left Jackson for Nick Biddle and again Bennett gave up his bread and butter for his principles. He had made hosts of political friends from the President and Senators down and started the Globe, believing there would be no lack of help, though he put this declaration of independence at the mast head: "I was the first editor in this State who in 1827 nominated Jackson and Van Buren together. If I make up my mind to establish a paper I wish you to understand that I shall ask no man the liberty of doing so. Offering to aid the party and establishing a paper are not one and the same thing. If I see fit I am at liberty to start a paper on my own responsibility and leave the party to judge for themselves what confidence to give it." No help came after thirty days the Globe. Then he put what money he had left into the Pennsylvanian, a Philadelphia independent organ of Democracy. He asked Van Buren for a loan of $2,500 to make it self supporting, but none of the leaders would help him, though they had done ten times as much for men who had given but one tenth his service. He fought the battle of the Pennsylvanian for two years, lost nearly all he had and came back to New York with his views of life change to—the Herald.

Failing with the party he fell back upon the people. There were then in New York two one cent papers, the [illegible] and the [illegible]. Bennett went to Anderson & Smith, printers of the former, and succeeded in entering into a contract for the publication of a daily penny Herald. He himself had $500. On the 6th of May 1835 the first number of the Herald was issued from the cellar of 20 Wall street. Bennett was editor, publisher and all that, and a plank across two barrels was his counting room.

At the start the Herald was comparatively mild, but it was more lively than its competitors and promised well, though frugality was still a necessity to its editor. Yet the two partners, in ill health and worried by the responsibility, wanted to withdraw. The great fire on the 12th of August dissolved the partnership, for everything was burnt up, and the young printers died soon after. Mr Bennett was undaunted and immediately inserted in the Sun an announcement of a revival of the Herald. On the thirty first he "raked the Herald out of the fire," as he said, and went on alone. Now he was more bold. The Herald made a sensation, but it was not altogether a credit to this man who had twice given up his livelihood rather than his principles, and as Mr Bennett grew older it became very difficult to see a copy of the early issues of the Herald. There were libel suits, whippings, and the like in abundance. He used to publish burlesque special messages from the President, and answered that he was "serious in my aims, but always full of frolic in my means." He was aroused. "I feel I must be sum total of journalism—or a cipher."

The course of the Herald was one of steadily increasing prosperity. In those days there was no such equality of condition as is given by the telegraph, the express mails or the new associations; individual enterprise was all in all. Bennett's two ideas were news and the people. He was no longer a man of unswerving principle but one who served a fickle master, foreseeing which way the wind would blow and veering round accordingly. His principle was "no principle." His enterprise was exceptional, and Raymond was the only foeman worthy of his steel he ever found.

Four months after the Herald fire came the great fire in Wall street. Bennett engaged every reporter he could find, was out all day himself gathering news, and published a wooden map also of the scene of the fire. This dash added something more stable in the way of fame to his notoriety, and the results of it became manifest in a contract for advertising which Dr Brandreth gave him. His stock list and money articles were something new in journalism, and "took" marvelously. Fifteen months after the start he felt safe in making the Herald a two cent paper, and in an editorial of that day, he sketched out that marvelous future which his enterprise has so fully realized. People doubted, but he did not. He organized carrier pigeons and pony expresses to beat the mails, and used every means to give "exclusive news." This policy he kept up throughout. At Gettysburg, by his orders a correspondent telegraphed a good part of the bible to the Herald simply to hold the wires.

But we may go no further into the history of the Herald. Mr Bennett retained full control of it until five years since, when he passed over the editorship to his son, retaining "proprietor." It is said by his will he leaves the Herald and Herald property to his son, with the proviso that it shall never be sold out of the family. To his wife he leaves the Fifth avenue and other real estate, and to his daughter the Washington Heights property.

Political Opinions.

MR GREELEY HAS NO REPUBLICAN STRENGTH

[From the New York World.]

The truth is that Mr. Greeley has next to no Republican strength, and that his most active Democratic support comes from the trading element of the party and the followers which that element controls. It was therefore a cunning piece of strategy to hold the ratification meeting in this city, the seat of the shivered Tammany Ring. If the sheep were fairly separated from the goats, it would be found that Mr. Greeley's supporters in this city consist almost entirely of that class of Democrats whom he has been accustomed to denounce in the Tribune as the dregs and offscouring of creation.

SUMNER'S BOOMERANG.

[From the Boston Globe.]

Mr Sumner's coarse and virulent assault upon the Chief Magistrate of the [illegible] meets with universal condemnation in the minds of all unbiased men, and is only publicly applauded by those who would make party capital out of the material [illegible] up. Even his own confreres and lifelong co operators in the cause of African emancipation—men such as Whittier and Garrison—look with sorrow and shame upon this angry ebullition, and one of the most honored and distinguished Democrats in Massachusetts yesterday remarked in our presence that he would be ashamed to make such a slanderous attack upon the President of the United States, even in a stump speech. The Senator will find that the [illegible] with which he hoped to overthrow his [illegible] will return like a boomerang to attaint the thrower and drive him from the councils of the [illegible].

AN OPINION BY MR. GREELEY ON THE "MIDSUMMER MADNESS."

In 1866 Mr Greeley made a speech at a banquet given him by Canadian friends in Montreal. A few sentences, reproduced from it, are of interest at present:

"Mr Webster was not only a gentleman, but he had the elements of more greatness, and he had faults as well. He failed only in one respect, and in this respect I differ from him, he wanted to be President and I don't. But for that one misfortune he would have been the greatest man America ever produced. We have seen our greatest man, Mr Chase, making the same blunder. I have seen men who had the disease early, and died of it at a very old age. Gen Lewis Cass died at about 82 and up to the day of his death he wanted to be President. No one escapes who once catches the disease, he lives and dies in the delusion. Being a reader and an observer at an early age I saw how it poisoned and paralyzed the very best of our public men and I have carefully avoided it."

VERY ACCOMMODATING.

[From the Marysville Appeal.]

One of the speakers at the Grant and Wilson ratification meeting in San Francisco happily illustrated the position of Greeley on the tariff question by the following old but apropos anecdote. A Yankee went South to teach a school, and upon being examined by the trustees was asked, "Do you think the world is round or flat?" He thought a moment and said "Some people think it's round and some people think the other, but I am ready to teach round or flat, just as the parents require."

There are many ways of looking at the Peace Jubilee. A correspondent of the New York Express says: "The great feature of the Jubilee will be Downing's Ninth Regiment Band numbering 250 instruments—sixty first violins, fifty second violins, forty violas, forty cellos, forty contra-basses, and the usual wind instruments." No doubt this noted band will be one pleasant feature of the occasion, but not the feature.

Reform in the Mode of Assessment.

The [illegible] property, for the purpose [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] commonly disproportioned, as [illegible] force of the whole [illegible] different counties, in [illegible] succeed [illegible] throwing the burden on others. The remedy for this, as we have often pointed out, is in the creation of the Board of Equalization. We have [illegible] the Legislature for several [illegible] and [illegible] hopes that the subject will [illegible] neglected by the law making power.

In other particulars, a [illegible] is needed [illegible] change. That feature of the law which permits all sorts of indebtedness to be deducted from the valuation of the tax-payers' property leads to the grossest abuses and inequalities. It so happens that, under this feature of the law, many whose wealth is very considerable, almost wholly elude taxation. They put in their property at one third of its value and their debts at their full amount. Indeed, loose and imaginary debts are frequently thrown into the opposite scale, and every mode of ingenuity is exhausted to make the debts balance the property returned. This is unjust to the conscientious taxpayer. Yet, what is he to do? Sworn to state the true amount of his actual property, he is confronted by the fact that his neighbors are shirking under one pretext or another the fulfillment of their obligations. Finding everybody else apparently engaged in this struggle to cheat each other and the county and State, he is strongly tempted to follow the general practice.

Probably the average rate at which property is assessed throughout the State is one-third of its actual value. This also should be remedied. Property should be rated at a fair cash valuation. A Board of Equalization can raise or reduce valuations as between counties, but it will be less effective in making adjustments in individual cases. Persons whose property is appraised at what they deem too high a valuation, are, it is true, pretty certain to make complaint to the County Board with a view to reduction. But in that vast majority of cases where the property is assessed too low, there is no one to undertake the task of making complaint and the matter is passed over. The basis of a remedy for this evil is to hit upon a system which will begin at the foundation, a system which will insure a just and equal apportionment by the Assessor himself. He might be placed under the supervision of a Board of Commissioners appointed by the State, say one for each judicial district,—a board of long tenure, whose duty it should be to sit in each county, to inspect the valuations, to enforce on all parties a rigid compliance with the law, to prosecute assessors for derelictions, or persons assessed for making evasive returns, and to order re-valuations when they should be defective. This is similar to a plea suggested recently by the Board of Tax Commissioners of New York, for correcting partial, imperfect and unequal assessments in that State, where they have substantially the same system as ours, with the same general complaints of the laxity and inequalities of appraisement. It is clear that our Legislature should do something, and that without delaying another year.

The Canal and Locks.

It is clear that the Legislature at its coming session will have a serious duty to perform with reference to the "Lock and Dam Swindle." It will devolve on that body to make a general investigation of the whole business, including the means and methods used to secure the passage of the bill; to inquire minutely into the manner in which the finances of the concern have been managed, to ascertain the condition in which they now stand, and to find out and report to the people the whole series of transactions connected with the conduct of the enterprise. There is reason to believe that the business has been so handled as to involve the enterprise in various ways not contemplated by law, and to put in jeopardy the interests of the State. Nothing less than a clear and full showing will satisfy the public demand.

From information so far obtainable it seems that the company have hypothecated or sold the bonds of the State amounting to $200,000, and have, besides, mortgaged the canal and locks for $200,000 more. Whether this last transaction is consistent with the conditions of the contract with the State, or not, is a point which may come into dispute. On investigation it may be found that this action of the company unlifies the contract. It may be the means of placing the control of the enterprise in the hands of foreign capitalists, a result not contemplated in the grant made by the State. Besides, these manipulations may open a wide field for speculation and even for fraud. The company, after getting this sum of $400,000, might expend only a part of it, then allow the mortgage to be foreclosed, and retire from the job with a very handsome surplus. The fullest inquiry into the whole business is demanded of the Legislature in the interest of the people, who are entitled to know how an enterprise which they have subsidized so heavily is being managed.

There is absolutely no limit to the prevarications of the Herald. Before the election it declared that if the Republicans elected a majority of the Legislature that body would be run in the exclusive interest of Ben Holladay. It now says it is "apprised" that the Legislature is a very different sort of body, and will not do what this veracious organ has heretofore been asserting it would do. The Herald is the most unprincipled sheet printed. Its assertions are made without any regard for facts. They are the lowest order of partisan utterances, and are totally inconsistent with each other. To meet the perpetually changing views and purposes of unscrupulous journalism, it contradicts to-day what it said a fortnight ago, and argues elaborately to prove that its own elaborate arguments of last month cannot possibly have been true.

Oregon didn't vote Democratic in the recent election—that is to say, the people of Oregon didn't declare their approval of the swindling, profligate legislation which the Democratic party has given them. In consequence of their refusal to do so the brigant organ of Portland is thoroughly satisfied that Oregon amounts to little or nothing. She can't support railroads, and the people who have invested money in her railway securities will lose it, and should be warned not to invest any more. This brigant act is to be repeated, which is the only thing that ever made the State respectable and great in the eyes of this brigant organ of Portland, and Oregon will speedily go to the demnition [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the Herald.

[illegible] premises [illegible] that the [illegible] of events would inevitably [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the nation to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] is out of [illegible].

Of course. The Americans having been beaten again by the English in a rowing match on the Thames, the Herald finds the cause of the defeat in the policy of the Republican party. It is a fresh count in the indictment against Grant's administration, and ought to [illegible] [illegible] voting [illegible].

OREGON.

An extensive bed of coal has been discovered twenty miles east of Roseburg.

Jas. A. Smith, Deputy U. S. Collector, is gathering revenue taxes up the valley.

The wire worms have done considerable damage to young wheat in the Cornelius Plains.

A party will soon start from Coos Bay for the purpose of locating a telegraph line to Roseburg.

The hay crop on the Plains in Washington county will be short, much of it turning to cheat.

Mr. Sackett has completed his contract on the Oregon and California Railroad between Oakland and Wilbur.

The old Court House in Hillsboro, after wandering around, has been permanently located on the southwest corner of the Public Square.

There has been a change in the proprietorship of the Monmouth Messenger, which is now published by Wells Drury, Esq. Rev. T. F. Campbell retains the position of editor.

The Monmouth, Polk county Messenger says: What the farmers are now wishing for is more rain. We are informed by a gentleman who has paid considerable attention to the subject, that if it does not come very soon, there will not be more than half a crop in this part of the valley.

Two young ladies at Salem the other night were crossing a mill race when they discovered some white object a short distance below in the water, which they supposed was a goose, but as they commenced pelting the object with stones, they found out it was a man taking a bath. The young ladies left.

The Mountain Sentinel says: Monday, the 10th inst., about four o'clock in the afternoon, the barn on Miller's ranch and stage station, five miles west of Olds' Ferry, on Snake river, and on the stage road to Boise City, was found to be on fire and beyond the power of man to save. The loss of property by the fire was about $5,000.

Mr. J. J. Reed, Agent of the O. & C. R. R. at Halsey furnishes the Salem Statesman with the following facts in reference to that town: There are two large warehouses already erected, and Kirk & Hume are building the third, which will be thirty by sixty feet in size. The town now has a drug store, two dry goods and one grocery store. Two saddle and harness shops, two blacksmith and one tin shop. W. Boyes has just moved his hotel and made great improvements for the comfort of his guests. The planing mill, owned by Connor & Co., to which will soon be attached a sash and door factory, is doing a rushing business. The school has a daily attendance of about 45 scholars. The Presbyterians and Methodists have each a substantial place of worship, while the former has a large Sabbath school in operation. The Good Templars have a large Lodge, and as an evidence of their good work we might add that there is nary saloon in the place. Dr. Smith attends the medical department of this section of the country. There are about thirty houses erected there already, and ten more will probably be built this summer. A daily stage line runs between Halsey and Brownsville carrying the mails. The town is surrounded by a fertile country and a good trade is being established. Everything around this new made town is in a flourishing condition, and its prospects for the future are flattering to the extreme.

GENERAL NOTES AND NEWS.

Ex-President Johnson opposes Greeley.

John P. Jones is most prominent for the U. S. Senate from Nevada. Nye's term expires next March.

Nearly four thousand dollars have been raised for the proposed monument to Major General George H. Thomas.

Senator Harlan of Iowa has bought half of the Washington Chronicle, by which it is said he will be brought into closer relations with the administration.

The "Reformers" are now falling out with Carl Schurz. Don Piatt says that Schurz is self-opinionated and egotistical, with no more heart than a hollow turnip.

Two New York Assemblymen were walking down State street, in Albany, after the passage of the charter bill. "I feel," said one of them, "as if I deserved to be kicked for voting for the charter." His friend replied, "That's just the way I feel myself; let's go up this alley and kick each other."

The last proposition for eradicating polygamy is to introduce into Utah vast quantities of fashionable millinery goods and induce the Gentile women to "come out" in gorgeous style. This will produce such a competition on the part of the Mormon sisterhood and such heavy bills for finery, that the Saints won't be able to stand the pressure.

Vanderbilt is now master of the streets of New York. His rapid transit bill having been signed, engineers have begun the survey of the new underground road to be built from the Battery to Harlem. Three thousand men have been engaged, who will break ground for the road at various points in a few days, and every effort is being made to have the road completed in two years.

Goose Lake.

The Tehama (Cal.) Independent gives these interesting facts in relation to this body of water:

It seems this lake is still without any visible outlet. When the writer was there in August, 1864, Goose Lake Slough, so-called, flowed out of the lake, and carried more water than Shasta river. About a year ago, however, the water ceased to flow out of the lake above ground, and it seems it has not yet resumed its flow, notwithstanding the excessively wet winters. An article in last week's Oregon Sentinel gives an account of a trip to the lake by B. F. Dowell. After an unsuccessful attempt to go around the north end of the lake, he turned back and made his way to the south end. The account says: Here he expected to have to swim the outlet of Goose Lake into Pitt river, but to his great surprise he found it dry and no water running out. The lake at the lower end is three or four miles longer than it was when Dowell visited it in 1864, but he was informed by the settlers that no water had flowed into Pitt river in the last twelve months, and that the lake was still falling, notwithstanding Dowell saw more water running into it than is in Rogue river, and more than half as much as in the Willamette. It is a little inland sea, and its heavy dew extends for miles around. The settlers have promising crops, and the hills and valleys are covered with the best of grasses.

The opinion Don Pedro, Emperor of Brazil, formed of Europe during his recent tour, is laconically expressed as follows: "There are only two countries in Europe—England and Germany, the rest is rubbish."

The vexed conundrum propounded by Hamlet in his soliloquy as to "who would fardels bear" has at last been solved in a satisfactory manner. The widow of a man named Fardles, hung for horse-stealing in Texas, has just given birth to twins.

During a shower in San Francisco the other afternoon, some children for shelter, crowded into the smallpox ambulance, which was repairing at the blacksmith's shop. When the facts came out there were a few anxious mothers and as many cases of vaccination.

The Dilemma of the Democracy.

(Albany N. Y. Journal.)

There are two aspects to the question of the adoption of Mr. Greeley by the Democratic party. If the coalition shall prove successful, its triumph will be the substantial restoration of the Democracy to power. It is simply upon this ground that Democratic leaders advocate it. They are willing to stultify themselves, brand their whole history and incur all the odium of a corrupt bargain for the sake of the chance of success. They hope to steal back into power under a thin disguise. If the alliance could succeed, it would quicken the Democracy with new life, and this makes a decisive argument against it.

But between its initiation and its success, there is a long interval, and that period is pregnant with great dangers to the Democratic party. Success would be everything, but the difficulty is to reach success and to surmount the obstacles which throng the opening of the way. If the end is triumph, the beginning is a complication of perils which put the end beyond reach. In order to entertain a hope the party proposes to tread upon the edge of dissolution. If it could safely pass these dangers and achieve a victory, it would enter upon a new career. But the trouble is that in aiming at this object, it takes a method which endangers its very existence.

The Democratic party has never since 1860 stood in such imminent peril to its unity and vitality as at the present time. It has, indeed, sustained many severe blows. It has been continuously and overwhelmingly defeated. But though it has staggered under repeated and crushing strokes, it has nevertheless preserved its unity and force through all these memorable conflicts. Now, however, the case is different. The Democracy are trying a precarious experiment. Dallying with the Cincinnati movement they have involved themselves in toils from which nothing but the utmost skill can possibly extricate them. Had it gone precise according to their calculations, they might possibly have followed it. But it was an experiment where there was only a narrow line between hope and a failure, and where a misstep involved the gravest disasters. And that misstep befell it.

The best evidence of it is seen in the condition of the Democracy to-day. The party is divided into two strong elements, which are engaged in an acrid contest over the policy of the campaign. A month ago the country was daily pointed to the alleged disruption of the Republican party. But the scene has shifted, a new act is opened, and to-day, while the Republican organization comes forth practically intact, the Democratic party is seen to be broken into two fractions hotly contending over the course to be pursued in the National Convention. It is impossible to satisfy both. One of them must sustain a bitter, exasperating disappointment proportioned to the vehemence of feeling and the intensity of expression with which they now press their opposing views.

In cultivating the Cincinnati coalition, the Democratic leaders incurred a risk whose possible dangers are now seen to be living realities. They inoculated the party with the idea that it was utterly hopeless and useless to undertake a fight except through such an alliance. They did this upon the assumption that the alliance would present itself under an attractive name. And now when this calculation is disappointed, when the coalition offers the leadership of Mr. Greeley, the most obnoxious of all men to the Democracy, they find they have carried the party to a point from which it is impossible to recover. While one half revolt from and spurn the nomination, the other half still act upon the lesson of the past few months—that a combination affords the only prospect of success. Both are urging their views with heated zeal, and between the two the party trembles on the edge of demoralization and dissolution.

Greeley on Gratz.

A story is told on Greeley which makes his present association with Gratz Brown on the Presidential ticket seem a little curious. It runs thus:

In the fall of 1871, before the November elections, the old man made a tour of the West, and visited Missouri among other States. Brown was at that time running for Governor, with good prospects of success. When Greeley returned he was met in New York by several Republican friends, who asked respecting the political indications. He gave his opinion about all the States he had visited, and finally came to Missouri. "Now," said he, in that squeak so familiar to those who have heard him in his swearing mood, "that d—d little red headed cuss, Gratz Brown, is going to give that State to the Democrats." He seemed to be very much annoyed at this, and he proceeded to denounce Brown as a traitor and a renegade. But he was not aware that the temptation for himself to become a traitor and a renegade was so near at hand, nor did he know how well he could fill the bill as to either or both, when the time came. He will be astonished to find, when the election day comes round, how little respect the people have for political traitors, whether red-headed or bald-headed.

Logan on the War-path.

After Sumner had concluded his tirade on Gen. Grant, the Democratic members of the Senate became very anxious for an immediate adjournment of that body. Answering them, Senator Logan said:

I am not surprised at the exhibition of virtue made by the Democratic Senators—or at their anxiety to adjourn now after the Senate has listened to such a bitter, malignant and cruel attack put forth in their interest, and the benefit of which they are expected to receive. Well may the Senators on that side be satisfied with what has been done. Well may they say they desire to cease public business and return home, now that this attack has been prepared and put forth for their benefit—better prepared, better delivered and put before the country in better shape than either of them, in my judgment, is capable of doing it. Your side of the case has been made, gentlemen, and made by Senators claiming to be on this side of the chamber. I came here this morning determined to defend, in my feeble way, an old soldier with whom I was in camp for a year, but I saw that the pressure of public business was such that if I attempted to do so I would be accused of interfering with it and making a called session necessary, and therefore I refrain. [And now I say that if the adjournment must take place Monday, and if a called session is to [illegible] [illegible] at the door of the [illegible] most malignant [illegible] [illegible] against the President of the United States. [Applause in the galleries.] Such a one [illegible] was fitted not for the Senate chamber, not for the Forty-second Congress. It was fitted for no deliberative body on earth. It was fitted only for the hustings, and I did not [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] An attack [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] make [illegible] [illegible] I intend to defend the President of the United States against it, not because I endorse everything that has been done by this administration, but because I believe that an attack of this kind is intended to destroy him with the people of this country, whose liberties have been saved by his own strong arm, which, in the van of the loyalists of the land, has severed the chains of slavery and preserved the Union—a thing that all the silvery words uttered by the Senator from Massachusetts [Sumner] never effected and never could effect. This attack is made upon a man to whom the country is more indebted than any other. He has his shortcomings, perhaps, like other men, but he is entitled to much. He is entitled to the gratitude of the people. He is entitled to be defended at their hands. He is entitled to be justified in all things that are right. He is entitled to be secured from aspersions, from vituperations, falsehood, and from slander. [Subdued applause in the galleries.] And I tell the Senator from Massachusetts now that he will find a response to that malignant speech in every crutch that aids a wounded soldier to wend his way through the world, in every wooden arm, in the grieved heart of every widowed mother mourning for her patriotic son. In these and in the hearts of all loyal people of this country he will find a response that will overwhelm him and all his oratory. All these will speak in thunder tones in defense of one of the most gallant soldiers that ever lived in any nation on earth. [Loud applause in the galleries, which was with difficulty suppressed.]

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 20, 1872

CITY.

What the M. E. Church in Oregon has Received.—From the session of the General Conference [illegible] of the M. E. Church, held in Brooklyn [illegible] reports have been published of the different [illegible] donations taken up and received in the various Annual Conferences. [illegible] these reports we find that the Church [illegible] State has been the recipient of large favors. The policy of the Church has been to supply every neighborhood [illegible] in the United States with regular preaching when such communities have been willing to contribute partially toward the support of the ministry. The Oregon Conference—including this State and Washington Territory—has received proportionately larger and more liberal donations than any Conference, except those of the Southern States, owing to the fact that the country is newer and the people are not so wealthy as in older settled regions of the Union. To supply this fund, collections are taken annually in the different churches, not only throughout Oregon, but in every State and Territory of the United States, and remitted to the various organized Societies of the Church. These Societies, or departments consist of the Missionary Society, Church Extension Society, Bible Society, Sunday School Union, etc., all under the immediate supervision of the General Conference of the M. E. Church. Bequests and endowments are often made, which materially assist in keeping up the General Fund. During the past four years, the Oregon Conference has received from the Missionary Society Funds $14,000, towards that Society's fund she has contributed $4,003 30. The Church Extension Society gave the use of $1,500 per annum, and has received from this Conference $500 per annum. Bibles and Sunday School books have been furnished at a nominal price to schools not able to purchase. The P. C. Advocate has received from the Book Concern, to assist in its publication, about $2,000 in four years. Most of these contributions have been to Societies outside of Portland, but now the General Conference has decided to appropriate $8,000 for the purchase of two lots, and $4,000 towards a building, if the church in this city will contribute $4,000 towards the building. The Book Concern at New York will then supply an Agent, and a stock of books—religious and Sunday School books—to be sold at the catalogue prices in New York. From the Church Extension Society, this Conference will receive the present year, $1,400, the Missionary and Bible Societies and Sunday School Union, will contribute about as in the past. In addition to all these, the East is doing much towards endowing the Wallamet University. In the last four years the Missionary Society of the United States, while she has done so much for Oregon, has contributed the sum of $746,001 22 to the maintenance of Foreign Missions.

A Public Outrage!—Yesterday the people of this city were thrown into a state of excitement by a person, whose name is unknown, appearing on the streets in broad daylight, with the small-pox. He was first seen wandering leisurely along up First street. Around his forehead was wrapped a cotton handkerchief, and a roll of red blankets on his shoulders. His face was in a bad condition from the eruptions of the disease. He wended his way to a saloon below the Police Court room, when he stopped and took a drink. He then went up stairs and reported himself to the authorities, and was promptly removed to the hospital. How long he had been wandering around the city is not known. On an investigation of this gross outrage on this community, we learn that the patient was taken ill with the disease a few days since at or near the town of Cornelius, and that the people who were likely to be exposed to the contagion hired a man named McDonald for $15 to bring him to this city. McDonald brought him here and turned him loose on the streets. By this wanton and criminal action the public safety, in a great measure, has been placed in open jeopardy. Probably several hundred parties have been exposed to the disease without any knowledge of it. The parties who have committed this crime have laid themselves liable to the law, and we learn that they will be vigorously prosecuted. This is a serious case. We are authorized in behalf of this outraged public to warn all parties in any direction not to attempt a repetition of the offence. Such an action, by which the health, safety, and even life of the citizens of this town have been compromised, can not be too severely denounced by the press, or too rigorously punished by the statute.

Railroad Accident.—We have been handed a letter written to Mr. J. Kraemer, of this city, by F. S. Aiken, well known here, and who went East a few days since to purchase stock. The letter is dated "Six miles west of Wadsworth, Nevada, June 13th," and reads as follows: "We had a railroad accident this morning; a great many wounded and bruised, but no one killed. The two cars behind the one I was in, ran off the track—cause, a broken rail. I escaped by being in the sleeping car forward. The wounded are being cared for now. One man and lady are badly hurt, it is thought fatally. Probably forty persons are wounded."

Masonic Hall.—The new Masonic Hall was thrown open last evening for the reception of the public. A large number of ladies and gentlemen visited the rooms during the evening. The hall is nicely furnished with the necessary furniture, etc. A magnificent carpet covers the floor, made of the most costly fabrics with the symbols and emblems of the order woven on the surface. Under the brilliant glare of the gas, the room presents a very fine appearance, while the splendidly frescoed walls with their impressive emblems and significant pictures, heighten the effect and add beauty and expression to the scene.

Departs.—Miss Anna Mehlig, the celebrated pianiste, who has been delighting Portland audiences with her wonderful artistic performances on the piano, took her departure on the John L. Stephens last evening for San Francisco. This talented lady carries away with her the best wishes of a host of warm friends, and many kind and pleasant remembrances of Portland. Mr. and Mrs. M. Gray accompany Miss Mehlig.

A Rat Fight.—An animated combat took place yesterday at the corner of Front and Stark streets between a diminutive canine of black-and-tan persuasion, and a file-tail rodent. The fight lasted for the space of fifteen seconds, and resulted in his ratship "passing in his checks." A large crowd collected to witness the fight, and great excitement prevailed for a few minutes.

Balky.—One of the teams attached to a buggy returning from a funeral yesterday, refused to draw the carriage off the ferry on this side. The horses started to back, and all would have gone into the river if a number of men had not held the vehicle, and a chain stretched across one end of the boat. After some difficulty the team was induced to press against the collar.

Catalogue.—The Annual Catalogue for Christian College is handed us by Mr. W. Drury, who is traveling as agent for the same. The Trustees of this college will soon have completed a new and elegant building for the accommodation of all who may wish to avail themselves of the opportunity of securing a thorough business or classical education.

Grand Jury.—The grand jury for this county has been in session for seven days. During that time twelve bills of indictment have been found as follows: Assault with a deadly weapon, 3; perjury, 1; adultery, 1; larceny, 6; and forgery, 1. By Saturday the jury will probably finish their work and submit their report.

Association.—The Annual Association of the Congregational Society of the State will convene at the First Congregational Church in this city to-day. Rev. P. S. Knight, of Salem, and ministers from other towns, will attend as delegates to the Association.

Taken the Oath.—The County Commissioners elect, Messrs. S. J. McCormick and C. S. Silver, took the oath of office yesterday and entered upon the duties of the office. The law does not require the Commissioners to file bonds.

To Commence.—Several workmen were engaged yesterday in constructing stands, etc., at the skating rink to be used in the exhibition of flowers and fruits at the Horticultural Fair, to commence to-day at that place.

Indicted.—The grand jury in the case of the State of Oregon vs. Charles Grant, for the killing of Joseph Simpson on last Monday, have indicted the defendant of murder in the first degree.

At the Armory.—Let every member of the general committee remember the meeting at the Armory Hall this evening to complete arrangements for the coming celebration.

COMMON COUNCIL.

REGULAR MEETING, JUNE 19, 1872.

The Common Council met last evening at the Chamber at 8 o'clock, Mayor Wasserman presiding.

Present: Councilmen Burton, Caywood, Combs, Congle, Hill, Hallock, Moffett and Story. Absent: Councilman Besser.

Minutes of the last meeting read and approved.

PETITIONS, MEMORIALS, ETC.

The petition of Arthur, for permission to use the foot of Oak street for a landing during high water, was read and laid over.

An invitation to the Mayor and Common Council to participate in the celebration of the Fourth of July was read and accepted, and the Auditor instructed to notify the committee of such acceptance.

REPORTS.

The Committee on Health and Police reported adversely to the payment of the bill for special policemen on election day. Report adopted.

The Auditor reported the names of George L. Story, F. P. Russell and J. C. Moreland as members elect of the Common Council. Ordered that the report be spread on the record.

The City Attorney, to whom had been referred the petition of Joseph Knott, reported on the same, suggesting that the Common Council decline to take any action on the matters in said petition. Report adopted, and the Auditor was instructed to notify Mr. Knott accordingly.

Our Tailors.—Although there are a very large number of merchant tailoring establishments in this city, some of them not excelled in the State, there is not one of them at which a gentleman can be more thoroughly dressed than at that of J. O'Neil & Co. 93 First street. They have competent fitters and cutters who will do justice to work extended to them. If you want a neat fitting suit, and furnishing goods to make the whole "rig" complete, Go to this house.

The Umatilla House at The Dalles is now completed and furnished in every respect unsurpassed. The office is the most cheerful and pleasant in the State, and the dining hall is unequaled. The rooms are all newly furnished. The house has twelve suites of rooms with stoves in them for families. The new house stands much higher than the old one. The ceilings are four feet higher, which adds greatly to the cheerfulness of the rooms. The table is kept in a style to correspond fully with the appointments.

Branching Out.—Persons living in the southern end of the city have certainly observed an innovation at 145 First street, between Yamhill and Taylor. This change has been made by Quinn, the well known dealer in Fish, Game and Poultry, who opened this stand as a branch establishment, where at all times full supplies of everything in his particular line can be found. At the old stand—Washington street between First and Second—the usual supply of Fish, Game and Poultry can be had at any time. Orders left at either place will be promptly filled.

It is pretty well understood that Judge Wilson has been elected to Congress. In the fall the attention of everybody will be taken up with the National election. But notwithstanding these exciting events, Jos. Kohn & Co., 91 Front street, are doing a lively trade at their clothing house. The reason of this is that they offer such liberal inducements to those who favor them with a call.

The Reason Why.—It is always a pleasure to deal with an individual or a firm when one knows that the managers and their entire corps of assistants endeavor to please their customers. The firm that carries out this idea of management is popular and that firm is Fishel & Roberts, corner of Washington and First streets. The new Cutter they have employed has given so much satisfaction that the business has increased wonderfully. One may feel at ease while purchasing anything of this firm. They are introducing new goods by every steamer.

An Established Remedy.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are widely known as an established remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, and other troubles of the Throat and Lungs.

Beautiful Teeth are priceless jewels. Daily brushing with Lyon's Tooth Tablets will do the work.

Fire at Walla Walla

From the Walla Walla Statesman

On Tuesday last, between the hours of 5 and 6 P. M., a building on Main street, adjoining Lovell's steam planing mill, was observed to be on fire. The building was occupied by Paine Bros. as a warehouse, and there being no fire on the premises, it is believed to have originated in sparks from the steam mill. When the fire was discovered it had made such headway as to preclude the idea of saving the building, and so all the exertions of the firemen and others were directed to the saving of adjoining property. The wind was blowing a stiff northeast breeze at the time and for the moment a general conflagration was apprehended. The firemen were early on the scene of danger, and at the start the hand engines rendered efficient service in preventing the spread of the flames. After a short delay steam was got up on the steamer, and when she got to work throwing two immense streams, all fear of the fire reaching the business portion of Main street was set at rest. As it was, the warehouse and two other houses, one occupied as a blacksmith shop, and the other as a dwelling, were destroyed. A number of agricultural machines, and some grain and wool stored in the warehouse were burned up, entailing a loss on the Paine Bros., estimated at $2,000. The entire loss did not exceed $2,500. At one time there was great danger of the fire communicating to the planing mill, but a large tank on the roof, aided by the exertions of the firemen, saved that building. In the direction of town Mr. A. Frank's building was on fire several times, but by desperate efforts was saved. Here the damage was confined to the hurried removal of the furniture and the deluging of the premises by water. While the fire was at its height burning shingles were wafted in all directions, and in several instances fire was communicated to buildings one or two blocks away from the scene of conflagration. Among the buildings thus fired was Thomas' old stable, on the upper side of the bridge, but this was immediately put out. The building occupied by Messrs. Johnson & Rees, at the corner of Main and First streets, was also fired in a similar manner, but was extinguished before it had gained headway. Take it all in all, the town made a very narrow escape from an extensive conflagration. Had the fire gained a foothold on the lower side of the bridge, the way the wind was blowing, it would almost certainly have laid the business part of the town in ashes.

What the Weak Need

Why do the debilitated [illegible] dread the summer? It is because heat is an exhausting element, and they are not in a condition to bear the new drain upon their languid systems, which they think must necessarily commence with the warm weather. But cannot this evil be obviated? Most indubitably it can. What these weaklings need—in fact, what nine tenths of us need at this season—is an accession of physical vigor, and this desideratum can be secured with absolute certainty, by a course of the mightiest, yet mildest, of all vegetable tonics, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Thousands of men of business, mechanics and professional men, break down, partially or wholly, under their summer labors, simply because they have neglected to reinforce the powers of nature in this way. To persons who use the celebrated invigorant and corrective regularly in hot weather, the exhaustion which excessive heat is apt to produce under other circumstances is unknown. They are not troubled with nausea, their appetites are good, their digestion excellent, and their habit of body all that can be desired. Thus for twenty years has been the uniform testimony of all who have taken the Bitters as a summer tonic and alterative. Its efficacy is due to the care and scrupulous fidelity to the teachings of experimental science, with which its medicinal ingredients have been culled from the vegetable kingdom, the admirable proportions in which they are combined, and the unequalled purity of its stimulative basis.

PLANTATION BITTERS!

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

PROSPECTUS.

THE THROUGH LINE!

A RAILROAD JOURNAL, TO BE PUBLISHED weekly, in the city of Portland, Oregon, devoted to the interests of railroads and kindred subjects, and especially to the success of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad.

In the interest of this road we have already made one campaign, wherein, against great odds, our efforts have been crowned with a fair measure of success. It is now a fixed fact, recognized by the Government, and becoming attractive to men of capital and influence.

With the issuance of this prospectus we enter upon a second campaign, in which the friends of the great work will find it profitable to be united, firm and persistent.

We shall early discuss the subject of legitimate and reasonable State aid in the prosecution of the work, and as an endorsement of the importance of this deservedly popular enterprise.

Preparatory to a renewal of our efforts at the next session of Congress, we shall fully discuss the national and local importance of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad, and through the instrumentality of The Through Line familiarize members of Congress and the American public with the subject in all its bearings. The discussion will cover the whole ground, and no fact or matter which may be deemed of importance will be allowed to pass unnoticed.

The successful completion of the railroads embraced in the system of the Pacific Northwest, we shall give our hearty support in all that is fair and just, and especially shall we endeavor to keep alive and make useful that public sentiment in Oregon everywhere manifested in behalf of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad.

Our knowledge of the several roads embraced in this system, their origin and progress, the various laws that have been passed concerning them, and the country through which they pass, will enable us to give, from time to time, to the American and European reader reliable and important information connected therewith.

Our friends should be especially vigilant in getting subscribers and giving The Through Line a wide circulation. We have made arrangements for its publication, and [illegible] a competent assistant in the Editorial Department. It will be a twenty column paper, and the first number will be issued on or about the 20th of June, inst. Subscription $2 50 per annum.

VALIDITY OF RAILROAD TICKETS.—An important case in the Superior Court, Boston, Mass., has recently been decided in favor of passengers who may desire to ride in opposite direction from that which their ticket indicates. It is stated that in 1868, John A. Coleman of Boston, attempted to ride from New York to New Haven on a coupon ticket, on the ground that although it was good from New Haven to New York, it did not pass the holder in the opposite direction. Mr. Coleman insisted that the company was compelled to receive the ticket, as it represents money paid for a passage between those points, and was put off the train by force, receiving such injuries as to affect his health. He sued the New York and New Haven Railroad Company, and recovered. The railroad officials obtained a new trial, and were beaten again. On exception to the ruling of the judge, the defendant obtained a third trial, which terminated in a verdict for Mr. Coleman for $3,200 damages.

Real Estate Transactions.

Domestic Produce.

WHEAT—The ship Annie M. Small, now loading, will take about 30,000 centals. Views of holders and buyers continue much at variance. The market is in much the same inanimate condition that has characterized it for weeks past. Good lots may be quoted at $1 60 per cental.

FLOUR—Some of the mills are still at work and have a considerable stock of Wheat. The Salem Mills are yet in operation, but not running to their full capacity. We quote the market in jobbing lots for extra of standard brands at $6 25@5 50 ₽ bbl; superfine and outside, $4 75@5 ₽ bbl. These are the same rates that have prevailed for several weeks.

OATS—The prospects of the new crop are not so favorable as they have been. Some fields, however, look extremely well. But large areas of late sown Oats will certainly yield a short crop, and some fields may fail entirely, except for farmers' stock to harvest. On the whole, however, a fair yield, sufficient for the wants of the State, may be confidently expected. We note no change in prices here.

BACON—Market is a shade lower. Eastern is in large supply. Sides are quotable at 14@15c; Hams at 16@17c ₽ lb.

BUTTER—Under an improved demand good Butter has advanced and is wanted. Common to fair is in large supply at 16 to 20c ₽ lb.

EGGS—Quotable in jobbing lots at 22c. The demand seems to be gaining on the supply, as all offered are taken at once.

ONIONS—California Onions are still in market, and quotable at 2½c ₽ lb.

POULTRY—Under freer receipts Chickens are selling at $5@5 50 ₽ doz. Spring Chickens, $3@3 50 ₽ doz.

WOOL—Receipts continue large. Prices still shade off. The market may be quoted at 45@47c ₽ lb.

Markets

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—Flour—Best city brands are now jobbing at $6 37½. For round lots for export the range is $5 75@6 25 for extra, and $4 50@5 for superfine.

Wheat—We quote new at $1 80; 300 sks old at $1 85. Best old is held at $1 85@1 90. The Favorite has gone to Oakland to complete cargo, and will probably be the first vessel off with the new crop, and is to clear next week.

Barley—400 sks brewing $1 60. Quotable at $1 [illegible]@1 65; old feed $1 50@1 45, new feed will sell in small lots at $1 40, though for large lots it would be difficult to get $1 25.

Oats—200 sks fair at $1 65; 200 sks good $1 72½. Extremes are $1 60@1 80. The latter figure is for fancy quality in small lots. There is no new yet received in market.

Potatoes—Temporarily high. New selling this morning at $1 87½@2 ₽ 100 lbs for best kinds. Such prices cannot last long.

Onions—Under a moderate supply price rule firm at $1 25@1 50.

Corn—Market is weak and nominal, selling at from $1 40 to $1 50.

Corn Meal—Local millers give the range of market at 2@2½c ₽ lb.

Rye—Sales at $1 40—a decline.

Buckwheat—Dull at $2 25.

Wool—Owing to the utter absence of demand prices are nominal. Best wools can be bought for 40c.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

[illegible] which have been successively [illegible] the National Government [illegible] the most extraordinary [illegible] The [illegible] rate of interest [illegible] the rate of taxes [illegible] have been [illegible] A great [illegible] have been [illegible] and the [illegible] power of the Nation kept in a high position among the nations of the world. [illegible] of the past is the party's best pledge for the future, and we believe that the people will not entrust the government to any party or combination of men composed chiefly of those who have resisted every step in this beneficial progress.

2. Complete liberty and exact equality in the enjoyment of all civil, political and public rights should be established and effectually maintained throughout the Union by efficient and appropriate State and Federal legislation. Neither the law nor its administration should admit any discrimination in respect of citizens by reason of race, creed, color or previous condition of servitude.

3. The recent amendments to the National Constitution should be cordially sustained because they are right, not merely tolerated because they are law, and should be carried out according to their spirit by appropriate legislation, the enforcement of which can be safely trusted only to the party that secured those amendments.

4. The National Government should seek to maintain an honorable peace with all nations, protecting its citizens everywhere, and sympathizing with all peoples who strive for greater liberty.

5. Any system of civil service [illegible] the subordinate positions of the Government [illegible] rewards for mere party zeal, is fatally demoralizing, and we therefore favor a reform of the system, by laws which shall abolish the evils of patronage and make honesty, efficiency and fidelity the essential qualifications for public positions, without practically creating a life-tenure of office.

6. We are opposed to further grants of the public lands to corporations and monopolies, and demand that the National domain be set apart for free homes for the people.

7. The annual revenue, after paying current expenditures, pensions and the interest on the public debt, should furnish a moderate balance for the reduction of the principal; and that revenue, except so much as may be derived from a tax upon tobacco and liquors, should be raised by duties upon importations, the details of which should be so adjusted as to aid in securing remunerative wages to labor, and promote the industries, prosperity and growth of the whole country.

8. We hold in undying honor the soldiers and sailors whose valor saved the Union. Their pensions are a sacred debt of the Nation, and the widows and orphans of those who died for their country are entitled to the care of a generous and grateful people. We favor such additional legislation as will extend the bounty of the Government to all our soldiers and sailors who were honorably discharged, and who in the line of duty became disabled, without regard to the length of service or the cause of such discharge.

9. The doctrine of Great Britain and other European powers concerning allegiance—"Once a subject always a subject"—having at last, through the efforts of the Republican party, been abandoned, and the American idea of the right of the individual to transfer his allegiance having been accepted by European nations, it is the duty of our Government to guard with jealous care the rights of adopted citizens against the assumption of unauthorized claims by their former Governments, and we urge continued and careful encouragement and protection of voluntary emigration.

10. The franking privilege ought to be abolished and the way prepared for a speedy reduction in the rates of postage.

11. Among the questions which press for attention is that which concerns the relations of capital and labor, and the Republican party recognize the duty of shaping legislation so as to secure full protection and ample field for capital, and for labor which creates capital the largest opportunities and a just share of the mutual profits of these two great servants of civilization.

12. We hold that Congress and the President have only fulfilled an imperative duty in their measures for the suppression of violent and treasonable organizations in certain lately rebellious regions and for the protection of the ballot, and therefore they are entitled to the thanks of the Nation.

13. We denounce the repudiation of public debts, in any form or disguise, as a national crime. We witness with pride the reduction of the principal of that debt, and of the rates of interest upon the balance, and confidently expect that our excellent national currency will be perfected by a speedy resumption to specie payment.

14. The Republican party is mindful of its obligations to the loyal women of America for their noble devotion to the cause of freedom, their admission to wider fields of usefulness is received with satisfaction, and the honest demands of any class of citizens for additional rights should be treated with respectful consideration.

15. We heartily approve of the action of Congress in granting amnesty to those engaged in the rebellion, and rejoice in the growth of peace and fraternal feeling throughout the land.

16. The Republican party proposes to respect all rights reserved by the people to themselves, as carefully as the powers delegated by them to the State and Federal Governments. It disapproves the resort to unconstitutional laws for the purpose of removing evils by interference with rights not surrendered by the people to either the State or National Government.

17. It is the duty of the General Government to adopt such measures as will lead to encourage American commerce and ship-building.

18. We believe that the modest patriotism, the earnest purpose, sound judgment, practical wisdom, incorruptible integrity and illustrious services of U. S. Grant have commended him to the hearts of the American people, and with him at our head we start to-day upon a new march to victory.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with [illegible] facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable [illegible] ence from the effects of secret indulgences, or [illegible] absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, [illegible] ted and disfigured faces and their broken-down [illegible] tions, disqualifying them for the happiness [illegible] or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid [illegible] sands suffer until death closes the scene. Let [illegible] guardians, friends, attend to those who are [illegible] any of those horrible, life-destroying [illegible] they are cared for and cured before it be too late [illegible] them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician [illegible] made private diseases his especial study for years, [illegible] is certain to cure the most inveterate case [illegible] cury or any injurious drugs. It is important to [illegible] are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many [illegible] doctors who infest all cities, publishing their [illegible] ing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from [illegible] and other places. Be therefore careful and make [illegible] inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these [illegible] tans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse [illegible] solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, [illegible] by the youth of both sexes to an almost [illegible] producing with unerring certainty, the [illegible] morbid symptoms, unless combatted by [illegible] measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark [illegible] eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, [illegible] rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, [illegible] about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new [illegible] disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and [illegible] mode of treating this disease, which never fails of giving a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give [illegible] dred Dollars to any person who will prove [illegible] to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in a [illegible] letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and [illegible] who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry. It will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus diplomas, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. [illegible] will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.
